Note. Chinese Journal of Comparative Medicine referring to the authorship standards recommended by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE), holds that the author's contributions must simultaneously include the following four points:

- (1) Substantial contributions to the conception or design of the work; or the acquisition, analysis, or interpretation of data for the work;
- (2) Drafting the work or revising it critically for important intellectual content;
- (3) Final approval of the version to be published;
- (4) Agreement to be accountable for all aspects of the work in ensuring that questions related to the accuracy or integrity of any part of the work are appropriately investigated and resolved.

Individuals who do not meet all four criteria should be acknowledged and not listed as authors.
