

Copyright Transfer Agreement for Chinese Journal of Comparative Medicine

Article Title (English):

(NO. )

---

Instructions:

- (1) Please have all authors carefully read the following content and return the Chinese Journal of Comparative Medicine submission system with their handwritten signatures after approval.
- (2) The following declarations must be made by all authors prior to publication. Authors shall bear full responsibility if any issues arise.
-

Authors' Declarations:

1. In accordance with the Copyright Law and relevant regulations, from the date of signing, all the authors agree to assign the property rights in the copyright of the paper (including but not limited to the rights of reproduction, distribution, performance, translation, information network transmission, compilation, and adaptation, etc.) to the editorial office of Chinese Journal of Comparative Medicine worldwide, authorizing the editorial office of the Journal to publish this thesis in any form or in any language, and authorizing the official website of the Journal, China Journal Net, CNKI, Wanfang Data-Digital Journals Group, VIP Information and other domestic and international networks and electronic databases to permanently. At the same time, it authorizes the journal to permit others to use this thesis in various media or in various languages.
2. After publishing, the authors have non-exclusive right of the article. The authors have right to spread or make use of the article under the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives 4.0 (CC BY-NC-ND 4.0) license, which includes the right to compile the article into paper collections for the purpose of academic exchange, whereas it should be noted that "the article is originally published on Chinese Journal of Comparative Medicine, year, issue (volume) and page range". When the paper and related scientific research projects are awarded or certain economic or social interests is acquired, the author shall notify the editorial office of the journal, and provide copies of relevant certificates.
3. Permitted third party reuse of the articles published by Chinese Journal of Comparative Medicine is defined by the following CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 user license. This license allows reusers to copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format. The licensor cannot revoke these freedoms as long as the license terms below are followed: reusers must give appropriate credit, provide the original citation information (including volume and page) and a link to the license, and indicate if changes were made. Reusers may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests the licensor endorses the use. Reusers may not use the material for commercial purposes. If reusers remix, transform, or build upon the material, they may not distribute the modified material. The full details of the license are available at its official website.
4. The manuscript has not been submitted to multiple journals simultaneously. Its contents have not been published in any other journal or media in any other language and involve no issues of confidentiality. The content of the manuscript (excluding review articles) represents original research work and contains no falsified, fraudulent, or plagiarized material. The responsible author (i.e., the corresponding author) has read the entire manuscript, has made significant contributions to the work described in the manuscript, and assumes responsibility for all aspects related to its publication. All authors have read and approve the entire manuscript. The authors' affiliated institutions have also explicitly approved the manuscript's content. There are no disputes over authorship or ordering among the authors. In case of copyright disputes, the authors are fully responsible.

5. The Journal reserves the right to review, edit, and process the as necessary. The authors are responsible for the academic content, language, and all other aspects of the manuscript. The authors agree to its publication.
6. The fee for the transfer of copyright is included in the one-time payment of the manuscript processing fee (honorarium). The Journal will not provide any additional remuneration.
7. This transfer agreement takes effect upon signature. The original copy, photocopies, scanned copies, or other electronic versions of this agreement shall have equal legal effect.

---

Verification Opinion of the Primary Affiliated Institution (First Signing Institution or Corresponding Author's Institution):

After review, all of the above contents are verified to be true and accurate.

We consent to the publication.

(With Official Seal)

Date:

---

Authors' Signatures:

Corresponding Author (Responsible Author): _____ Date:

First Author: _____ Date:

Other Authors: